FROM OUR OFFICERS

What's happening to the numismatic fraternity? Nothing but a very healthy revolution. The speculators, the teletype services, the roll dealers and some we are too polite to list. have passed from the scene.

In their place, we can welcome the true collectors who are taking an interest in something besides accumulations of uninteresting junk. They can see the beauty of a well executed medal. They can appreciate the history behind a fine foreign coin. They can learn so much more of the people using primitive, odd and curious money. They can study the purpose of why tokens were issued by individuals and private businesses. In short, the collectors are not just collecting or accumulating, they are becoming numismatists.

Most numismatic societies are losing membership. This is really no loss. A true numismatist stays with an organization as long as he has something to gain. We hope to be able to have something to offer in the future.

With this in mind, the Governors and Officers of the C.S.N.S. have named Howard Eisenberg as the new Editor of the Centinel. This is his first issue. The future issues will be larger and better.

*Philip J. More
President*

I want to thank each member that has renewed his dues for the coming year through April 30, 1967. To those whom we have to remove from active membership I hope you will re-consider and re-join our Society which will so ably represent you in this thirteen state area.

It was particularly gratifying to receive all the little notes that came with your dues. So many of you inquired about my "eye health" and so many expressed good wishes at seeing me back at the old job of being your Secretary. Thank you for all the good wishes sent me.

There was no October issue of the Centinel, and many sent inquiries, but with this January 1967 issue, we are back in business with a new Editor. Give him your support and if you have any suggestions, be they compliments or complaints send them this way. They are both welcome. Good criticism helps us to help you. This Central States Numismatic Society is YOU, so YOU help make it what you want it to be.

PEORIA TO HOST CONVENTION

The Peoria District Coin Club will act as host for the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Central States Numismatic Society. The convention will be held April 28, 29, and 30 at the Hotel Pere Marquette in Peoria, Illinois. Governor Cliff Gillett will act as General Chairman, while Bob Whitmore will be Vice Chairman. The host club has been working for several months to assure an event the C.S.N.S. can be proud of.

Bourse Chairman, Oliver Horton, reports that many tables have already been sold for the 80 table bourse section which will be held in the spac-

On the same floor as the bourse will be a large exhibit area. Those wishing to exhibit should contact Exhibit Chairman Terry Stauske, P. O. Box 995, Peoria, Illinois for an application now as exhibit

Following the plant tour there will be a visit to Junction City

BOARD APPOINTS EDITOR

At a special Board meeting November 26 at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit, the C.S.N.S. Board of Governors appointed Howard B. Eisenberg of Chicago new Editor of the Centinel, official publication of the Society. Eisenberg succeeds Cab Atkins, Centralia, Mo., who resigned due to the press of personal business.

Eisenberg has served as Director of Public Relations of the C.S.N.S. since April and has held a similar post for the Chicago Coin Club since 1964. The Editor served as Program and Public Relations Chairman for the recent convention of the American Numismatic Association in Chicago for which he edited a special convention program. In 1965 Howard served as public relations Chairman for the C.S.N.S. Chicago convention. Eisenberg, a well known exhibitor, was a founder of the Young Numismatists of America and currently is a member of the A.N.A.'s Young Numismatist committee. He holds membership in the A.N.A., A.N.S., C.S.N.S., Ill. N.A., M.S.N.S., and the Chicago Coin Club in addition to various other groups.

Eisenberg becomes the third Editor of our publication, Elston Bradfield served as the Centinel initial editor. Eisenberg is currently a junior at Bradfield's alma mater, Northwestern University, where he is a student in the College of Arts and Sciences.

In other board action taken at the May 1, August 19, and November 26 meetings, the Board has recinded its 1962 ruling on mandatory paid registration at Society conventions. Beginning with the 1967 Peoria convention a free registration as well as a paid registration will be available for guests.

Second Vice President, George Hatie, is working on revisions of the constitution which will be presented at the Peoria convention. President More has appointed C.A.M. Smith as Chairman of the Publications committee. In other appointments, More has named Cliff Gillette as Chairman of the Membership Committee, and Irv Gerber Chairman of a committee to study the medal of merit. Past President Leo G. Terry presented a check from the receipts of the 1966 Indianapolis convention to President More.

The Board also has accepted the suggestion of the Chicago Coin Club to divide the remaining Lincoln Medal sets from the 1965 convention between the two organizations as well as the remaining amount in the treasury from the convention. The Society has also named Chicago to be the site of the 1969 thirtieth anniversary convention of the Society.

BRITISH TRADE DOLLAR

By R. S. Yeoman CSNS LM-2

In 1894 the situation in the Straits Settlements and Hong Kong with regard to trade with China was that of silver dollar shortage.

Earlier, European trade with China was by use of Spanish dollars. As time went on these coins remained in the interior provinces and scarcity grew to a serious degree. Mexican dollars became the accepted medium in the 1860's and following. Though the Chinese resisted a change from the familiar, they soon came to accept the Mexican dollar.

Dollars from Mexico could be obtained only for goods, chiefly from Britain. Mexico made a good profit or seigniorage from their coinage and as a protection, they discouraged the export of bar silver. Having no commercial exports, Mexico paid obligations with her dollars by way of London, and they were sold there for re-export to the East.

The price of gold increased in the 1890's making silver transactions difficult. Mexico preferred to recognize that the gold had advanced rather than that the value of her silver was down. As Mexican importers were unwilling to pay a higher silver price for goods, trade lagged. Like Japan, Mexico commenced domestic manufacture.

The Straits Settlements for a time used the Japanese Yen, but Hong Kong did not follow this example.

The Hong Kong dollar (1866-68) had failed for lack of Imperial backing and it was also in competition with a cheaper Mexican coin. Moreover, the maintenance of a mint had proved too costly.

The United States Trade Dollar (1873-78) was of little importance owing to its very small import trade with the Orient.

The trading communities of the Straits Settlements and Hong Kong had repeatedly petitioned for a special dollar for trade in the East. Sir Charles Freemantle, Deputy Master of the London Mint, opposed the proposal primarily because the cost was too great to allow competition with the Mexican dollar.

Early in 1894 the Hong Kong Chamber of Commerce disclosed that a fall in the value of silver had brought about a scarcity of Mexican dollars. Banks and men of commerce in the Straits Settlements and Hong Kong supported the Trade Dollar proposal of the Chambers of Commerce, including that of London, for relief from the currency famine in the colonies.

The Secretary of State for the colonies, after consulting the Colonial Currency Committee, recommended a new coin, the design for which was to be approved by the Queen.

Because the coin was expected to circulate in other Eastern nations not under the British crown, and being aware of the well known objection to unfamiliar designs, it was decided to show Britannia on the obverse to mark the British character of the piece.

The reverse, as finally adopted, bears the denomination in Chinese characters in the upper and lower quarters of the scroll, the Malayan to right and left.

The original dies were prepared at the London Mint, at the joint expense of the colonies concerned. The Chinese minister drew the Chinese characters for the engravers, and examined the work after they had been transferred to metal. The finished dies were then sent to the Bombay Mint. There, in 1895, the government of India authorized the Mint to accept bullion for conversion to silver Trade Dollars at a uniform charge of one per cent.

The standard weight is 416 grains, .900 fine, equal to the Japanese Yen and Hong Kong Dollar (second issue, 1866-68).

and the Lakeview Civic Center.

The committee suggests that those planning to attend the 25th Annual Convention make hotel reservations early. When writing to the Pere Marquette, please mention the C.S.N.S. convention.

In accordance with the Society's revision of the convention regulations, admittance to the bourse will be free. Make plans now for Peoria in April!!

Please Note: Due to the transition in editorship many of the cuts for this issue have not reached Chicago and have, therefore, been omitted from this issue. We hope to include photos of our officers and various other photos in the April issue. We would like to express our thanks to R. S. Yeoman for the article in this issue.

CENTRAL STATINGS

Culled by Howard Eisenberg

The time has come around again when numismatists start throwing their hats in the ring for A.N.A. offices. Several Central Staters are already campaigning. President Phil More will seek the Association's 2nd V. P. position, while former V.P. Mike Dolnick will run for the board as will current V.P. George Hatie. A big surprise will come from Chicago, however, where a prominent numismatist will oppose John Pitman and Herb Bergen for the second spot on the A.N.A. Ticket.....The P.N.G. hopes to make Chicago their permanent convention site. Correcting an earlier oversight, the P.N.G. has decided to work with the local club in planning the event.....Glenn Smedley promises that the February issue of The Numismatist will contain an important article on new Spanish numismatic treasurers found on sunken ships.....Ed Rochette has been in Chicago working with Glenn on the Feb number, Glenn will handle the March issue solo while Ed gets settled in Colorado Springs. April will be Ed's first issue as Editor.....Exhibitors at the Michigan State show in Detroit were most pleased with the exhibit awards, Irv Moskovitz takes a back seat to no one..... Speaking of Exhibitors, Matt Rothert's appointment of Art Lovi as chief judge at the Miami convention may be just what the doctor ordered, in recent years A.N.A. Judging has been erratic.....Cliff Gillette promises a great convention in April at Peoria. For those of you who think Peoria is a "cow town" you are in for a surprise. Make your plans now..... Charles Hoskins sends us the new pamphlet for the National Bank of Detroit's Money Museum, Chuck is stepping into the large shoes of Adm. Dodson, but we are sure he will do a fine job.....A recent meeting of the Chicago Coin Club featured "Dr. Harry X Boosel" delivering a lecture on "How to have a Heart Attack" from materials he had gathered from various sources. The only problem was we kept waiting for some tie in to 1873, but actually it was quite entertaining.....Matt Rothert will be the honored guest at the Chicago Club's Installation and Awards dinner on the 11th of this month.....Let me hear your comments on this issue and on the column. 76

HISTORY OF THE C.S.N.S.

By – Dr. F. S. Epps

The eighth annual convention of the Central States Numismatic Society was held in Springfield, Illinois May 5–7, 1950. R. S. Yeoman presided as President and Paul Ginther was Secretary. The financial report showed $199 in the treasury with a paid up membership of 185. One hundred seventeen members and guests registered for this convention.

The Life Membership resolution, presented by Col. James W. Curtis was adopted at this convention. The qualifications for life membership were set at one year Society membership, application on a special membership blank to the Secretary, favorable recommendation of two-thirds of officers and governors, and the issuance of a special membership card. The Life Membership fee was set at 15 years regular dues. Half of this fee was to be set aside in a special fund.

Exhibits at the convention were M. H. Bolender, crowns of the world, first prize; Col. Curtis, odd and curious money, second prize; E. S. Keefer, Japanese and Annam gold, third prize; and I. T. Kopicki, Lincoln medals and paper money, fourth prize. At the meeting, the following officers were elected: L. W. Culver, President; Col. James Curtis, Vice President; Paul H. Gin-ther, Secretary-Treasurer; and H. L. Polzer, Harry X Boosel, Harold Bowen, John H. Hanson, Henry B. Carey, H. L. Randall, C. David Pierce, C. C. Shroyer, and Carl T. Shelby, Governors.

President Culver presided over the ninth annual convention of the Society at the Curtis Hotel in Minneapolis May 11–13, 1951. There were 47 members present at the business meeting. The treasury had grown to $293 while membership had fallen to 141. Convention registration was 111.

Although the C.S.N.S. nominated a list of A.N.A. candidates, it was pointed out that this does not bind the individual Society member to cast his A.N.A. ballot accordingly. Officers nominated and elected to govern Central States for the year 1951–52 were as follows: Culver, President; Curtis, Vice President; Ginther, Secretary-Treasurer; H. L. Polzer, Harry X Boosel, Lloyd Gettys, Sol Kaplan, H. L. Randall, C. David Pierce, C. C. Shroyer, and Carl T. Shelby Governors.

The Hotel Sinton in Cincinnati was the site of the 1952 convention. The treasury had $205 in the general fund and $190 in the life membership fund, while the membership stood at 90 regular and 48 life members.

EDITORIAL

With this, my initial issue of the Centinel, I could and perhaps should say many things. I am mindful of the great responsibility that has been put on my shoulders. It is easy to criticize the other fellow until you are told to do something. I succeed two fine numismatic journalists, Cab Atkins and Elston Bradfield. To say I am not in their class would be quite an understatement.

No matter who is Editor, however, the ultimate success of this publication depends on each member of the Society. It is simple to say "The Centinel is nothing and offers nothing to the membership", but no one person can make this publication great — that takes you! Many of our members are dealers. I would ask you to take note of our low advertising rates and our special 1967 contract rates. The revenue realized from the advertising will allow us to expand and improve this publication.

I wonder how many of you have thought about writing an article for The Centinel? We don't pay, of course, but we are looking for articles in all areas of numismatics. Why not sit down and write an article — short or long. We will edit it, send us the first draft if you wish. Soon articles in the Centinel will be eligible for the Elston Bradfield Literary Award. Why not make a New Year's Resolution to write an article for us in 1967!

To those of you who are neither dealers nor writers I ask you to cut out the application printed in this issue and get one new member — just one. Then send in your 1967-68 membership dues — it's not too early.

I will try my best at being Editor, but don't expect miracles. If you won't help my job will be much, much more difficult. Finally, let me express my heartfelt and sincere best wishes for a healthy, happy, and prosperous New Year from the staff of the Centinel.

A "President Emeritus" status was created and awarded Lee F. Hewitt, for life, and this was incorporated in the By-laws. The 1953 convention was awarded to Chicago and the 1954 meeting to Milwaukee.

It was proposed that dies and medal struck in silver for past presidents and bronze medals for those who contributed to numismatics and the Society. This was the beginning of our present day "medal of merit" award. Officers elected at the convention were Curtis, President; Shroyer, Vice President; Ginther, Secretary-Treasurer; Boosel, Gettys, Kaplan, Harold Bowen, James Buchbinder, Mark Nelson, Shelby, and Glenn B. Smedley, Governors.

Contributions Welcomed

Now, for less than a moderately priced coin, you can purchase an alarm system to protect your complete coin collection. Electronic Products Company, P. O. Box 8485, St. Louis, Missouri 63132, is offering their "fail-safe" alarm system for only $28.50. For this cost you receive the control panel which consists of nickel-cadmium batteries, battery charger, transistorized, pulsed oscillator, test button, neon pilot light, one speaker and plug and cord. Also sent is hood up wire, two detectors and an extra speaker. It works beautifully. Write Attention William F. Peglar at the address above. (PJM) Jim Grebinger was elected President of the Chicago Coin Club for 1967 at the December meeting. James Babka will serve as First Vice President, Marty Greene, Second Vice President, and three Governors, Adalbert Birkholz, August Hausske, and J. Thomas Nolan. The nominating committee and members had nominated eight candidates for the Board C.S.N.S. Junior Representative reminds us that junior members are welcome in the Society. Our J.R. Bill More has really been working hard getting young members for our Society. We wonder how many of you have sons or daughters who might be interested in collecting. Why not sponsor a junior member?..... Club news is truly welcome in this section of the Centinel Lee Hewitt reported that the coin business in the under $300 price range is going well. Lee just completed a coast to coast numismatic trip and reports business much better east of the Mississippi. From our personal experience the type coins in the better conditions are moving very well

This dollar bill is one of the rare uncut uncirculated pairs issued by the First National Bank of Peoria on January 2, 1865 during its fourth year of operation. This specimen is owned by a member of the Peoria District Coin Club who purchased it from Mr. Dox, decedent of the signing cashier, Mr. H. B. Dox. It was found in a book almost a century after its issue.
